

Customer Relationship Type Classification Guide

1. Purpose

This guide defines how a CustomerRelationshipType is assigned during onboarding and how it drives service level and pricing.

2. Individual Tiers

Individual customers are classified as Standard, Premium or VIP based on relationship tenure, product holdings and expected transaction volume.

3. Business Tiers

Business customers are classified as SMB, Premier or Partner based on annual revenue, number of trading accounts and strategic importance to the firm.

4. Government Tiers

Government entity customers are classified as Federal, State or Local based on the level of government the entity represents.

5. Reclassification

A customer's relationship type is reviewed annually and may be reclassified when account activity or revenue crosses a defined threshold.